MAY PICK SNODGRAS TO SUCCEED RAYOLD

Appointment of New City Bacteriologist Soon to Be Announced by Mayor.

COUNCIL TO CONFIRM CHOICE.

Probable Successful Applicant Is an Instructor in Medical and Dental Departments of Washington University.

Doctor Charles A. Snodgras, teacher of science in the medical and dental departments of Washington University, probably will be appointed City Bacteriologist and Pathologist to succeed Doctor Amand Rayold.

The retirement of Doctor Rayold left the Health Department without a bacteriologist, and as there was no law authorizing the maintenance of a bacteriological division, a successor could not be chosen by Mayor Wells. The Municipal Assembly then passed a new ordinance, which was approved by the Board of Health, creating the office of City Bacteriologist and Pathologist.

Doctor Snodgras will receive a salary of $2,400 a year. His term of office will extend from the date of his qualification until the first Tuesday of April, 1903. The four-year term will begin next April, when a new appointment will have to be made.

Heretofore the bacteriological division of the Health Department was stationed with the chemical division. The new law established the bacteriological division in the City Hospital, where the office will maintain its laboratory and perform such duties as may be prescribed by the Health Commissioner. He will be City Bacteriologist, Pathologist to the City Hospital and director of the institution's laboratories.

The appointment will be made by the Mayor, and it must be approved by the Board of Health and confirmed by the City Council. The law does not provide that the bacteriologist shall give bond to the city.

When asked yesterday if he had decided to accept the position, Doctor Snodgras said that it is contrary to his custom to discuss probable appointments until after the names had gone to the Municipal Assembly. He admitted that he had reached a conclusion, but added that there were other applicants, and one of the others might have been chosen.

Doctor Snodgras has been specializing on sciences for ten years, and is at present a teacher in the medical and dental departments of the Washington University. He received his education in the Chicago University, from which institution he received the degree of Ph. D. in 1893.

DEMOCRATS AT VINCENTS, IND.

Predicted That Congressman R. W. Miers Will Be Renominated.

Vincennes, Ind., April 30.—The vanguard of Democracy of the Second Congressional District arrived here to-night for the convention to-morrow. It looks now as if R. W. Miers, present incumbent, will be renominated.

It is to be expected that the convention will be a close one, but those in a position to know say that C. W. Wellman of Sullivan County and Cy E. Davis of Green will make no fight for the nomination, and there is a likelihood that the names will not be presented to the convention.

PRICES OF MEAT STATIONARY.

Butchers Say That the Local Situation Is Unchanged.

Telegraphic advices to the effect that the Beef Trust had lowered prices have not been substantiated in the local retail market, according to Henry Mermod & Jacard's, Broadway and Locust. The prices upon all cuts of beef, pork, mutton and veal remained the same yesterday.

Louis Schaefer, Jr., and Michael Forrester said that there was no change locally in the situation. "Good cattle are scarce," said Schaefer, "and I think the present prices will maintain."

Tenderloin steaks are quoted at from 15 cents to 17 1/2 cents; porterhouse at from 20 cents to 25 cents and sirloin at 15 cents. The round ranges between 12 and 14 cents, and choice roast from 15 cents to 20 cents a pound. Hindquarters of lamb are at 15 cents; mutton 12 1/2 cents. FUNERAL OF JAMES P. COYLE.

Veteran Volunteer Fireman Buried in Calvary.

James P. Coyle, whose funeral took place yesterday from his home, No. 230 Franklin avenue, at 2 o'clock, was buried in Calvary cemetery.

The streets concerned were: Polka Commissioner Andrew P. Blong, Judge James J. Spaulding, Captain T. L. J. O'Sullivan, and John A. Flynn.

Mr. Coyle was born in Ireland and came to St. Louis when he was a boy. He engaged in the occupation of a locksmith and bell hanger. For some time he was located on Chestnut street, and later at No. 230 Easton avenue.
